Anticipating a big crop of heroes when the war on the Western Front starts in earnest, the French government is preparing the laurels in advance. This man is vouching some of the 500 Croix de Guerre medals and an equal number of the Medaille Militaire turned out daily at the Paris mint.

Earl Griffith, Secretary Of State, Succumbs In Columbus

Heart Ailment, Aggravated by Asthma, Proves Fatal; Stricken In Office Last Monday

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, March 30.—Secretary of State Earl Griffith died today in White Cross hospital of a heart ailment aggravated by asthma.

A native of Mt. Gilead, he was 52 years old.

Griffith was stricken in his office Monday, taken to the hospital, and placed under an oxygen tent. He appeared to improve for two days, then suffered a relapse.

Griffith won the secretary of state office in the 1938 Republican sweep. He was owner of the Morrow County Sentinel, a weekly newspaper established at Mt. Gilead by his grandfather. He once was postmaster of Mt. Gilead.

He first sought the secretary of state office in 1935, but was defeated by William J. Kennedy, Cleveland Democrat. That was his initial venture as a candidate, although he had been active in Republican affairs for 15 years. He was Morrow county Republican chairman and a member of the state central committee.

Born in Knox county July 13, 1887, he was educated in Mt. Gilead schools and Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware. Twenty-six years ago he acquired the Morrow County Sentinel. He was a member of the Episcopal church.

Griffith is survived by two daughters and a son.

Until Gov. John W. Bricker appoints a successor, Griffith's duties go to John C. Beckman, of Steubenville, assistant secretary of state. The governor left early today for Chardon to attend a festival, apparently unaware of the death.

Normally, an appointee of the governor would serve until the next general election when a short term candidate would be chosen, but since the vacancy occurred after the final date for filing for the primary, any appointee probably would serve until January, 1941.

Griffith, who was seeking re-nomination, was opposed in the primary by Edward Hummel of Cincinnati, often a candidate for the office. Presumably, Hummel will get the nomination uncontested, but election experts were checking precedent to determine if an other candidate could be entered.

Directors to Receive Applications at Meeting Monday

MORE REQUESTS ARE EXPECTED

Budget To Be Set After
Estimates of Needs
Are Studied

Salem's annual Community Chest campaign will open Tuesday evening, May 7, and extend through Wednesday and Thursday, May 8 and 9, it was announced today by officers of the Salem Community Chest association.

As a preliminary step looking toward the yearly drive, directors of the association will meet at 1 p. m. Monday in the Memorial building to receive applications from various agencies which expect to participate in the fund.

Last year, the fund objective was $20,950. Eight agencies shared in the money, including the Boy Scouts, Central Clinic, Memorial building, Girls' Friendly council, Salvation Army, Red Cross, City hospital, and Home for the Aged.

This year, one or two additional applications are expected, including that of the Salem Girl Scout organization.

After receipt of applications, the requests will be turned over to a three-member budget committee which will make allocations for final submission to the directors.

Atty. Joel H. Sharp is president of the association and James H. Wilson is secretary. Leon Colley will be campaign chairman, with A. F. Bolen as assistant.

Directors are Fred Emeny, E. S. Dawson, William Hart, Andrew MacLeod, Louis Probst, Colley, Wilson and Bolen.

POLICE ENFORCE PARKING LAWS

Fifty-six Tickets Issued; Chief Warns That Three Days Notice Means Just That

Spring is here!
The sight of police "tagging" parked automobiles in the downtown section for the first time since last summer is another evidence of it.

Fifty-six citations for parking violations were issued within two days by the police and yesterday the guilty motorists started filing into Mayor Norman Phillips' court.

Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer warned that the three-day limit to appear in answer to a traffic summons, as printed on the tickets, means exactly three days, no more, and suggested that motorists appear promptly in the mayor's court or face the consequences.

NEW CAR TRUCK
LANDS IN DITCH

Ravenna Driver Escapes Unhurt In Mishap Near Ellsworth

Russell F. Uber, 29, of Ravenna, escaped without a scratch when his haul-away truck, loaded with four brand new cars, plunged over a 15-foot embankment near Meander creek in Route 224, one-half mile east of Ellsworth at 4:30 p. m. Friday.

Uber, driving for the F. J. Bortell Co. of Flint, Mich., was enroute at the time.

The truck swung over the embankment when the right wheels slipped into the soft berm and caused Uber to lose control. The outfit tore out 11 guard rail posts before eventually leaving the highway.

The haul-away and the four new vehicles remained in their mangled state all night because Salem state highway patrolmen would not permit their removal until daylight.

Plans will be discussed further for the proposed poultry festival to be held here in October.

Committeemen in charge of the festival arrangements today called for a large turn-out at the dinner, they asked that reservations be made as soon as possible with Mrs. Elizabeth Baker at the Business Bureau office.

$286,000 Allocated

In Mine Disaster

COLUMBUS, March 30.—Tapping to $342,000 "catastrophe fund," the Ohio industrial commission today reported allocation of $286,000 in settlement of the first 40 death claims from the Willow Grove coal mine explosion which killed 72 men two weeks ago.

Commission Chairman Will T. Blake said remaining claims probably would be approved within a week or 10 days through an emergency office in St. Clairsville.

"Many of the victims had large families, and we shall do everything in our power to expedite handling of the claims," Blake asserted.

Montgomery before Judge Lones In Shooting Case Here

Counsel for Dewey Montgomery, of Franklin ave., who was arrested March 5 by police on a charge of pointing firearms, entered a plea of guilty for the defendant before Judge W. F. Lones in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday and a fine of $15 and costs was levied.

The charge was that of "intentionally, but without malice, pointing a loaded firearm toward Nick Jurina, Mrs. Hazel Montgomery and Patrolmen George Reash and Clifford Todd.

Montgomery was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor Norman Phillips on March 7, but obtained a hearing in common pleas court when Prosecutor Karl Stouffer filed information on the case with the judge at the request of defense counsel.

Jurina, an Ohio ave. resident, took a revolver from Montgomery the night of March 5, shortly before Montgomery fired two rifle shots at his wife. The defendant was later disarmed by the two officers.

Washingtonville
Robbery Failure

WASHINGTONVILLE, March 30.—Burglars labored strenuously during the night to open the safe at the L. J. Davis store here, but failed.

The safe was not locked to begin with, Davis told deputy sheriffs this morning, but the intruders themselves twisted the combination, locking it. Then they sawed the hinges off the safe door. Still it wouldn't open.

There was no money in the safe to begin with. On their way out, the burglars picked up a fountain pen and pocket knife, the only articles stolen.

One Set of Plates
For Two Cars Costs
Finance Firm $25

State Patrolmen James White and Robert Jones thought they were seeing double—and they were.

Ahead of them on Route 165, east of Greenford, yesterday a car was driving the rear car, each with identical 1940 license plates.

The officers stopped both drivers and discovered that a Youngstown finance company had repossessed a New Waterford man's auto and had taken the front plate from the firm's car and placed it on the rear of the repossessed machine.

Louis S. Centre of Youngstown, employee of the finance company who was driving the rear car, was hailed before Mayor George Wilson and fined $25 and costs on a charge of driving a car with fictitious plates.

CANTON'S VICE

Declares City Has "Licensed, Unrestrained" Vice Resorts

CANTON, March 30.—Canton has "licensed and unrestrained" vice resorts, says a report of the Stark county grand jury which returned 22 secret indictments following a three-day investigation of vice conditions.

Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmech said the report, submitted yesterday, asserted:

"In a period of approximately three years, 331 women have registered as prostitutes and have actively and openly engaged in prostitution with the knowledge and consent of the police department and by virtue of the instructions of the mayor and his immediate predecessor.

"In February, 1940, there were in excess of 30 houses, housing almost 100 prostitutes.

"We condemn the practice of formulating official policy in absolute defiance and contravention of specific provisions of the law."

Pending further study of the report, Mayor Edward S. Folke declined comment. His predecessor was James Scowen, now congressman from this district.

Police Chief Ira A. Manderbaugh said he had no knowledge of licenses being issued to prostitutes.

Pays Fine, Faces
Jail For Lack of Forty-Cent Permit

Mrs. George Pazel, 18, of New Waterford, almost landed in jail because she thought State Patrolmen Robert Jones and James White were a "couple of old meanies" when they arrested her Friday afternoon.

The officers charged her with driving a car without an operator's license, and, according to their report, she "fumed."

She still protested when taken before Justice of the Peace S. S. Weaver at Columbiana and when the officers started to prepare papers to commit her to jail, she decided it would be better to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

The driver's permit costs only 40 cents.

American Diplomats Accused of Playing "Ominous Role" In European Affairs, Designed to "Finish Germany"

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, March 30.—The inspired Nazi press asserted today that the "sensational discovery" of alleged Polish documents proved that United States officials had helped instigate Allied plans "to finish National Socialist Germany through war." American diplomats were accused of playing "an ominous role" in European affairs.

Comment on the documents, which the German foreign office said last night had been uncovered in the secret archives of conquered Poland, pushed other news into the background as the morning papers blamed American diplomacy in great measure for the outbreak of the European conflict.

Principal targets of the Nazi press barrage were William Bullitt, United States ambassador to Paris; Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to London, and Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., ambassador to Poland. All three, as well as President Roosevelt, were mentioned in the documents. They consisted primarily of "confidential reports" in which Polish envoys in Washington, Paris and London were purported to have outlined for their government the views of American diplomats in Europe.

Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter, which was particularly outspoken in its editorial comment, characterized as "amazing" the disclosures of the alleged activities of the American ambassadors to London, Paris and Warsaw in the tense days before the outbreak of hostilities.

"These three gentlemen—first of all Mr. Bullitt in Paris," the newspaper said, "virtually made it a

State Department Denials

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—The authenticity of documents produced by German officials as evidence that "American policy helped loose war on Europe" was challenged emphatically in administration quarters today.

President Roosevelt was the first to comment after the documents—purportedly found in captured Berlin archives—were published in Berlin. He declared that propaganda from abroad should be taken with several grains of salt.

Secretary of State Hull spoke bluntly. He declared that the state department placed not "the slightest credence" in the conversations

Mrs. William T. Smith's Death Occurs One Day After That of Husband; Funeral Monday

Double funeral service for William T. Smith, who died Thursday, and his wife, Catherine, 72, who died at 11:15 p. m. Friday, at their home at 636 Jennings ave., will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Stark Memorial. Rev. C. F. Evans, pastor of the Christian church, will be in charge. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

The family will meet friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Sunday at the Memorial.

Mrs. Smith had been ill of complications for the last five months. She and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary April 12, 1938. She was born in Minerva March 11, 1868. Mrs. Smith was a member of the Christian church.

Surviving are a daughter, Freda, of Cleveland and a son, Howard W. Smith of Salem; four sisters, Mrs. J. Schumaker of Salem, Mrs. W. S. Spinning of Portland, Ore., Mrs. F. Hiddleston of Minerva and Mrs. F. W. Shultz of Canton; and two brothers, Roy Walker of Mount Union and John of Minerva.

point of honor to swing the still seemingly repugnant elements in the London government toward adapting Polish desires and thereby bringing Europe closer to war."

Asserting that Kennedy and Bullitt had played an "ominous" part in pre-war policies reflecting "the irrevocable desire of the western democracies to finish National Socialist Germany by war," the Voelkische Beobachter asked:

"What in the world induced these gentlemen from far-away America to assume not only the role as vehement advocates of Polish claims, but even to encourage the Poles when they showed signs of weakening?"

The documents released in Berlin covered, in the main, the period leading up to the Allies' pledge of March 31, 1939, to aid Poland in the event of attack. They also covered a period of some months thereafter.

related in the German white book, and denied that the war-like attitude they set forth represented "in any way" the country's foreign policy.

William C. Bullitt, the United States ambassador to France, and Count Jerzy Potocki, Polish ambassador to the United States—two diplomats whose names figured prominently in the Berlin collection both rejected as untrue the statements imputed to them in the documents.

At his press conference late yesterday Mr. Roosevelt commented that he thought everybody should take with a grain of salt any propaganda that was put out in Europe today. A little later he amended his remark to make it two grains of salt, and a little later he raised the amount to three grains.

Secretary Hull referred not only to the white book's representation of American policy but also to the war-encouraging expressions attributed in the documents to Bullitt and Joseph P. Kennedy, the United States ambassador to Great Britain.

"I may say, most emphatically," Hull declared in a formal statement, "that neither I nor any of my associates in the department of state have ever heard of such conversations as those alleged, nor do we give them the slightest credence. The statements alleged have not been represented in any way at any time the thought or the policy of the American government."

PEDOMETERS FOR LEGISLATORS

Ohio supreme court's dismissal of the state legislators' appeal from the common pleas court decision that mileage allowances should have something to do with mileage heartens the weary taxpayer. Besides claims of $21,507 dismissed, $5,557 in claims already paid must be returned to the treasury.

The mileage racket gets under the taxpaying skin. Some legislators can't understand it, but their constituents fail to see why any jobholder should be paid for a journey he doesn't take. It has the appearance and the odor of common dishonesty, even when cloaked and perfumed with technicalities.

In 1936, the general assembly recessed and reconvened 40 times in one day so the journal would show weekly meetings throughout a recess of 140 days. It was a good trick. It almost worked. But it so happened that the technicality was blown up by a technicality when the case reached the supreme court. Set a technicality to catch a technicality.

Meanwhile, taxpayers in Ohio and in the United States are wondering why legislators shouldn't be fitted out with pedometers. Then they'd at least have to swing their legs to clock trips they get paid for, but don't always take.

BLOW TO SOMETHING ELSE, TOO

Americans who took seriously the promise of federal economy had the spring pulled on their hopes when the house of representatives went overboard on CCC and NYA.

But there is one detail of the plunge that should not be missed.

As nearly as could be ascertained, at least 150 members of the house of representatives were absent when the vote was taken. Since neither increase carried by more than 134 votes—one carried by only 10—it is an even bet that there were enough votes among the 150 absentees to change the decision.

Why were the congressmen absent when a policy vote was being taken? Probably because they didn't want to be present for fear of being placed in the position of voting against increases for two popular agencies. They preferred to let economy take a licking themselves. The damage to the budget may be undone; the damage done to public confidence by such antics is irreparable.

OUR MR. WELLES

His countrymen are as puzzled about Mr. Welles' trip to Europe on his return as they were when he started.

They are told that he suffered from influenza while abroad. They have been informed that he talked to Mussolini, Hitler, Daladier, Chamberlain and a great many secondary characters in official circles.

They do not know what he told them, or what they told him. They gather that if his mission was to bring peace, it was unsuccessful; there are no signs of peace. They take it for granted that he had no other mission, except to assemble facts for President Roosevelt.

The presence of a "small, brown case" in his personal luggage is supposed to confirm the belief that he did assemble facts. This is circumstantial evidence, however. The case might contain souvenir postcards. Until this doubt has been cleared up, there seems nothing further to say about Mr. Welles. Americans hadn't been reminded for a long time what a mysterious, gumshoe business secret diplomacy is.

CRISIS AT INDIAN LAKE

Senator Donahay, the lawmaker who doesn't care for lawmaking, has asked for legislation making Indian Lake, his home, a national wild life refuge. Nothing short of a major crisis could have caused this.

During his term in the senate, Ohio's ace vote-getter has introduced something like three, or perhaps it's four, bills. He hasn't attempted to save the nation in any of them. He will retire without having contributed anything to the perplexities of the common law.

But when it comes to wild life, Sen. Donahay's feelings are stirred. Three of his pet swans and several domesticated geese were killed by hunters on Indian Lake last fall. Ohioans hope the senator's bill will be pushed through as an emergency measure, even if it means delaying the appropriation of a few billion dollars for something or other. It's the least other senators could do for a brother who never added anything to the complications of being a senator.

ALLIES IN FACT

Effect of the declaration that Britain and France will stand together in refusal to discuss peace terms until the security of each is guaranteed scarcely can be called reassuring.

Only one thing could inspire such assurance of unity—the suspicion of disunity. The declaration closely resembles in this respect one of those statements from political notables that they have nothing but the friendliest feelings for dear old Elmer—when they suspect Elmer is getting ready to let them down.

Perhaps the suspicion is unworthy of the allies. It is difficult, in that case, to understand why they chose to attract it.

One of the smaller neutrals of Europe would like to compare notes with some American family that lives over a bowling alley.

"One American in four knows how to drive an automobile," reports a statistician. But usually, it seems, it's one of the other three who's under the wheel.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, March 31

SUNDAY'S forecast presages a day of memorable events, with the prospect of the attainment of unusual and outstanding ambitions and desires. These may reach into the fastnesses of spiritual, mystical, romantic and practical life, according to the aspirations and abilities. There may be surprise and unforeseen adventures and experiences.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of unpredictable and unprecedented experiences. There may be sudden change, adventure, romance and thrills, as well as intrigues and strategies. The new and strange in contacts and expression assure some sort of dynamic and far-reaching attainments.

A child born on this day may have such a wide scope of talent and versatility as to attain extraordinary heights of accomplishment, probably in new or radical forms, expression or experience.

For Monday, April 1

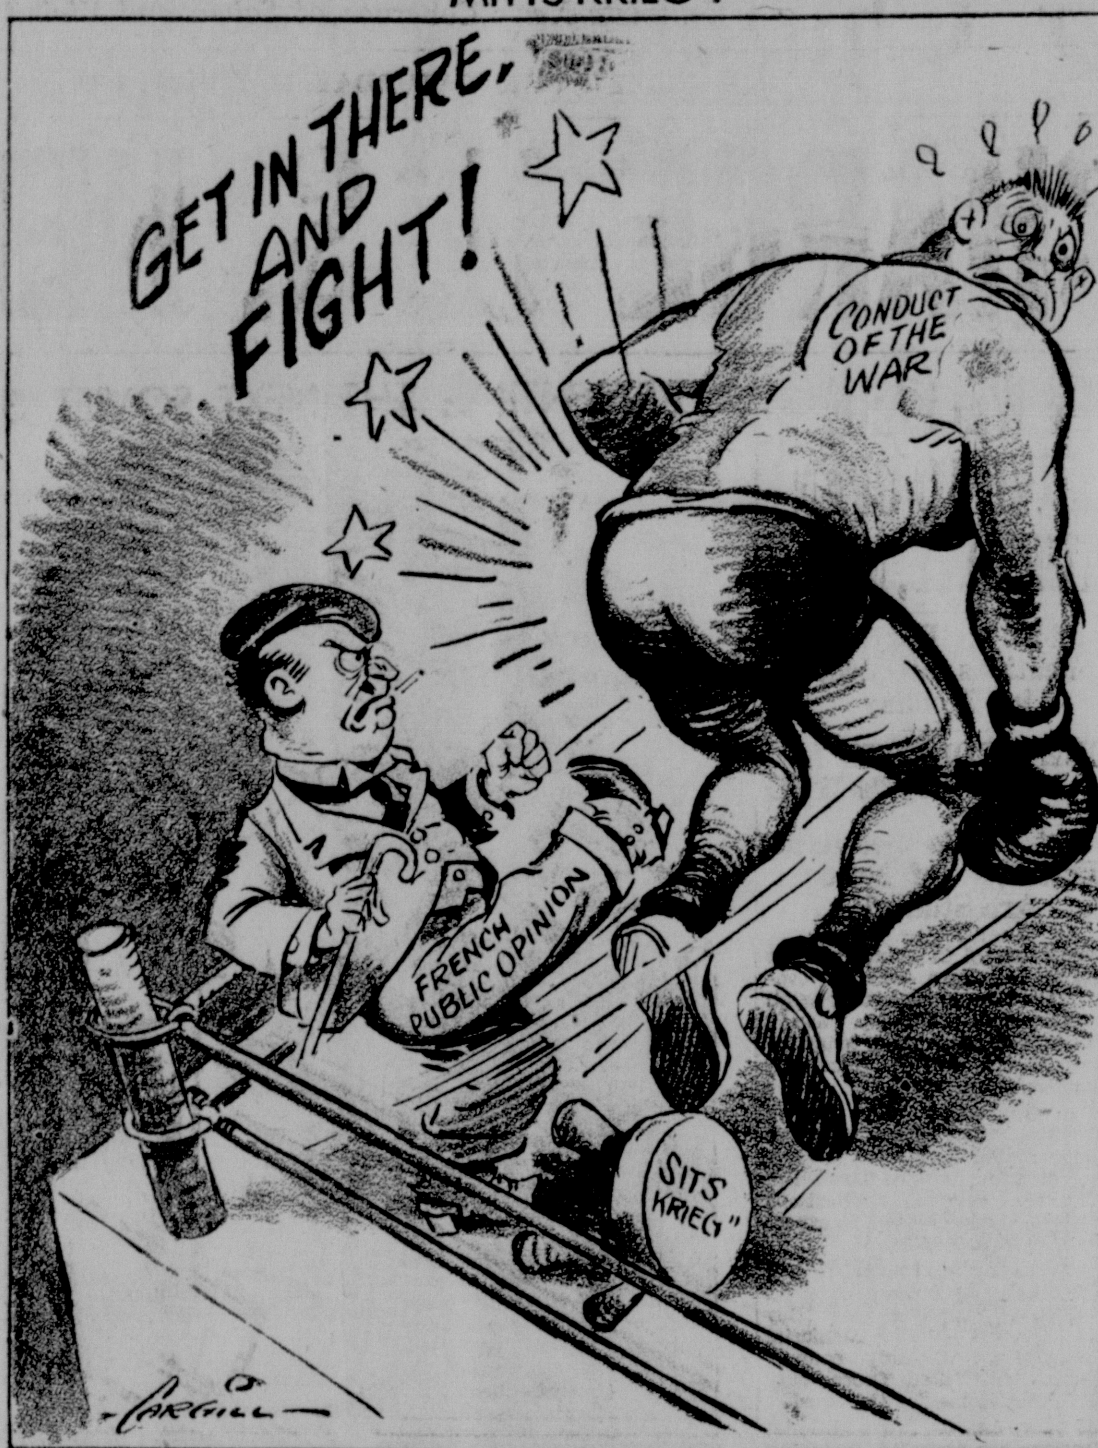

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a particularly lively and enterprising day, with affairs moving with drastic force toward the attainment of sound objectives. It is a time for working forcefully and bravely for major projects, despite certain opposition from elders or other forms of determined frustration.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and exciting year, with things moving at quite accelerated tempo, and possibly with some tempest and hostility. The latter may be from elders or a group action of sinister force. But constructive and practical programs win out.

A child born on this day may be bold, audacious, determined and aggressive, with practical creative ability as well as keen insight.

If the radio teaches political speakers to condense, that will be something.

"MITTS-KRIEG"?

Rest Is Seen As Greatest Remedy For Damaged Heart

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A PHYSICIAN who finds a case of valvular disease of the heart is duty-bound to warn the patient that he should not exert himself unduly. This is good doctrine and common sense doctrine because, naturally, the heart with valvular disease has a mechanical defect and, therefore, has not as much reserve power as a normal heart.

The physician, however, is not greatly fooled as to what his patient will do about his advice. It is all right to say to a boy 12 or 14 years old that he mustn't run too much, but if the boy is playing baseball and he hits the ball, he is going to run down to first base. This often unduly alarms parents, but a great deal of this alarm is unnecessary. The doctor is not so much worried when his advice is disregarded in this respect because he knows that the heart muscle is a wonderful organ and is capable of doing a great deal more than might be expected of it.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

We have a remarkable example of the reserve power of the heart muscle in a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association. It describes a marathon runner who performed a great many strenuous athletic feats, although he had a double valvular disease of the heart.

Advised Against Racing

The runner was 32 years old. He was found by the medical examiners of the athletic board to have heart murmurs which indicate valvular disease, and he was warned against participation in the race. He replied that he had competed in similar races on many occasions without any ill effects. He entered the race and ran a marathon of approximately 26 miles in three hours and two minutes, when the weather was intensely warm and at an altitude of approximately 6,000 feet above sea level. His condition after the race was good and he recovered general bodily equilibrium in a shorter time than his competitors.

A case of a different kind reported in the same journal indicates how completely the heart can heal after a severe, acute attack of coronary disease. Physicians usually order a patient with coronary disease to rest at least six weeks in bed. Time hangs heavy, especially after one gets to feeling better, and such a patient wants to be allowed out of bed. This case is a good example of what strict adherence to the rules will do.

Plenty of Rest

After he had been in bed in the hospital for seven weeks, he remained quietly at home for another month, and then spent six weeks in Nausaun, mostly lying on the beach. After this he began very unusual physical exertion. He went air-planting; he went skiing; he engaged in swimming and dancing. He traveled by airplane to Europe, a trip which included 19 hours of continuous flying at an altitude of from 8,000 to 10,000 feet.

I certainly don't wish to be understood as advocating such a regimen for anybody, but there are some lessons to be learned. One is that the heart has great reserve powers. The other is that the great remedy for the heart is rest. Even with such serious damage as comes from a coronary occlusion, the patient, by giving the heart several months of complete rest, gave the soft spot an opportunity to heal and this patient appears to have as good a heart as anybody as a consequence.

Questions and Answers

E. W.: "I have heard that going bareheaded in chilly weather causes sinus trouble. Is there any truth in this?"

Answer: You are just as likely to hear that going bareheaded cures sinus trouble. Cold may be a factor in sinus trouble, but a remote one.

L. L. P.: "Please tell us something about continued numbness of the hands."

Answer—This condition is likely to be due to anemia. It indicates poor circulation and sometimes is the first symptom of a nervous paralysis. The best thing to do would be to consult a doctor and have an examination of the blood and the nervous system.

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school (Acts of the Apostles 1:6-12). Charles W. Youtz, superintendent.

Last Sunday, the attendance in Sunday school reached the highest figure since the organization of the church in 1917. It was the result of intensive missionary work on the part of the members and classes.

The Kingdom of God and missionary work are closely bound up together. The command of Jesus places a heavy responsibility upon each and every Christian to do his very best to bring all people in living contact with the saving Gospel of Christ. This command has never been countermanded. Because it still stands, the missionary program of the church must never be halted.

11 a. m.—Worship, sacrament of Holy Baptism for children and sermon. Subject: "The After-Glow of Easter."

The festival of Easter for Christians and the whole Christian church is truly a climax of interest and devotion to the Savior, who endured death and cross and then was placed in the grave. The glory of the resurrection of Christ is celebrated on Easter day. The fires of enthusiasm and devotion burn very brightly in the whole Christian world.

The passing of Easter must not permit the zeal and energy of this unsurpassed occasion to lose its glow and light. The test of Christian faith may be in the after-glow of the Easter message.

The Golden Text is, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." (James 1:17).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "Hear ye, better is it to get wisdom than gold; and to get understanding rather to be chosen than silver!"

He that handleth a matter wisely shall find good; and whose trusteth in the Lord, happy is he" (Proverbs 16:16, 20).

The lesson-lesson also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoint of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of Life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle."

This society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway, where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday.

FRENCH WOMEN DISPLAY SKILL

Talents Especially Shown In Precision Work On Munitions

PARIS—Raoul Dautry, minister of armaments, continues to pay glowing tributes to the women of France who are working in munitions plants.

This correspondent visited some of the factories in which hundreds of women are helping to keep war production at its maximum.

The women are working in almost every industry—automotive branches, heels and munitions, airplanes and clothing. They have filled the places left vacant by men who now guard the Maginot line. They are doing all the light work where daint fingers are needed, and where painstaking care is essential. In a land where for centuries the women made lace, artificial flowers, dainty clothing, and where they created and executed the world's styles in dress, it is natural for them to turn to the innumerable tasks where patience and precision are required.

In the big industrial plants, a few women operate small lathes and automatic machines, but for most part they work where only the hands and eyes are needed. In one big tank producing factory, one of the largest of its kind in the world, there are scores of women engaged in the quietest and strangest of all occupations, but vitally important. They were testing, inspecting and grading roller bearings from sizes almost too small to be seen with the naked eye to big, polished cylinders and spherical bearings large as marbles.

Dressed in white smocks, ranged in rows of little desk-like boxes, they turn the bearings over thin black cards. Rusty ones and those that might develop flaws are discarded.

"Women are much better for this work than men," the floor superintendent said. "Men have not enough patience for such continuous routine."

The bearings passed and inspected by these women move into long galleries special distributing machines which cut in graduations of a thousandth of an inch. They roll into little drawers from which the mechanics choose them for insertion in the hundreds of machines used in modern warfare.

The offices are filled with women, naturally, but looking over the wide area of a machine shop in a mass production factory, it is difficult to recognize the women so much they resemble men in their movements. In the heavy shop work they wear dark overalls. In the lighter jobs they are usually in white or blue.

"SELF MADE GIRL" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XXIII

In the limelight, Linda held her ground. She took the gossip, the stars, the envy, the hate, with what indifference she could muster. She was getting $150 a month now. It was, she realized, tops.

Linda paid for the clothes that she had bought in the last few months, and bought some new ones. The girls in the outer offices watched her furtively. She and Hester were envied and talked about. They in their turn, envied women executives whose salaries surpassed their own. And they knew that "the big three" disappeared and feared them, would get rid of them if it were possible.

All this was highly amusing to Hester, but not so to Linda. She wanted to say, "I'm not what you think I am, really! I do my work! I earn my pay!"

This, she soon found, was very, very true. The general manager might demand his secretaries pretty, but he also demanded them capable. If he was in a mood for work he swamped her with letters, and expected her to stay until they were finished. If she made a mistake his criticism was swift and biting. From the beginning he called her Linda, and imposed upon her.

"Shop around on your lunch hour, Linda, and see what you can find for a 10-year-old girl's birthday. Something around $5. And on your way back see if you can get me a couple of new mystery novels—have them charged and sent to my hotel."

There was his personal banking to do, his check books to balance, his engagement book to keep, a thousand and one tasks in addition to the regular work. If she had a dinner engagement and he had something for her to do, he expected her to break it and do the work. Usually he would work, too, and then he'd say, "That's that. Now let's eat."

Could she have presented an excuse, and gone on without him? Linda wondered sometimes, but not to the extent of actually trying it. It was easier to do as he expected, and it was also very pleasant.

He took her to none of the show places, the fashionable spots to which she had become accustomed in the last few months. His preference was for the unpretentious little places where there's no music, no show, and food is an art.

Away from the office he was a different person, natural and friendly and unassuming. There was in his manner nothing to remind her that she was the stenographer dining out with the boss.

None of it was lost on Hester. She saw all, heard all, and didn't hesitate to tell all.

"He's really quite high class," she told Linda, "though don't be deceived by the finesse—they're all alike. He'll get to the point any time now."

"I'm not so sure," Linda said. "I think we misjudged him."

Whereupon Hester laughed, and Linda felt foolish. But just the same she DID think they'd misjudged him and Mrs. Breen, too.

Feeling safe, and secure, and affluent, she began to consider taking an apartment. She couldn't afford one alone, of course, but one of the girls with whom she had spoken of it. They thought they could manage three rooms, and a part time maid. But before they settled down to serious house hunting, Linda knew that it was no use. There was another family crisis, and she'd have to send more money.

Four Teams Reach Quarter-Finals In Cage Tournament

Louisville, Holliday's Cove Gain Their Second Wins In Little City Tourney

Kent Collegians, Runner-Up for Two Straight Years, Made Impressive Debut; Copley All-Stars Eliminate City News of Salem

Four teams advanced to the quarter-finals of the sixth annual Little City basketball tournament by winning games at the Memorial building last night. Three other teams moved into the second round.

The Louisville Chevrolet, Hollidays Cove, W. Va., Kent Collegians and Copley All-Stars battled their way into the round of eight, while Toronto, Cuyahoga Falls and Waco Deckert Service survived first round tests to advance to the second round.

The tournament continues at the Memorial building all day today, coming to a close with the consolation and final games at 8 and 9 tonight. Quarter-finals and semi-finals were scheduled for this afternoon after remaining second round games had been cleared away.

Gain Second Wins

The Louisville Chevrolet and Hollidays Cove registered their second victories of the tournament in two of the seven fast games last night. Louisville conquered the Dover Merchants, 38 to 33, while Hollidays Cove eliminated the East Canton Sherer Grills, 50 to 42.

The Kent Collegians, runner-up for the tournament championship for the past two years, made an impressive debut by spanking Harrisburg, 57 to 36. The victory advances the Collegians to the quarter-finals since they drew a bye through the second round.

One Salem team fell by the wayside as the City News Agency dropped a 38-to-24 decision to the Copley All-Stars, a team of outstanding college players.

By reason of their victory, the All-Stars, who were given a bye through the first round, advanced to the quarter-finals along with Louisville, Hollidays Cove and Kent.

Cuyahoga Falls moved into the second round of the tournament with a 44-to-35 victory over the Lisbon Dorrance Furniture. Toronto and Waco also went into the second round, the former with a 55-to-33 victory over the Butler (Pa.) Celtics and the latter by nosing out Lemon's Market of New Brighton, Pa., 39 to 38.

Protest Defeat

The New Brighton team protested its close defeat, claiming that Waco used a professional player. J. M. Kelley, director of the tournament, ordered the player in question to show proof of his amateur standing today or the game would be forfeited to New Brighton.

COLUMBUS GETS 1942 ABC MEET

St. Paul Is Selected As Site For Pin Tournament Next Year

DETROIT, March 30.—The American Bowling Congress' 1942 tournament goes to Columbus. Inaugurating a new policy whereby tournaments will be awarded two years in advance, the Congress last night selected Columbus over Indianapolis. St. Paul received the 1941 tourney, as expected.

Neil C. King, of Indianapolis, was elected A. B. C. president, succeeding Frank J. Fitzpatrick of Oakland, Calif.

The Congress also increased prizes for the current and future tournaments, approving $1,500 for the five-man event title and $600 in the doubles to make all champions, except the all-events, worth $300 for winners. First prize in the singles and all-events remained at $300 and $200, respectively.

Previously, the team championship had paid $1,000 and the doubles $500.

National Bowling Workers' association elected Billy Sixty of the Milwaukee Journal as president. Vice presidents include Dick McGee of the Toledo Blade and Paul Walker of the Columbus Dispatch. Tom Bolger of the Toledo Times was named corresponding secretary.

HUFFER IS TOP MONEY WINNER IN PIN EVENT

Leads Individual Prize Winners In Bowling Tournament

A 175-average bowler is the leading money winner of the fifth annual City Handicap Tenpin tournament, according to the official prize list announced today by W. H. Juergens, secretary of the Salem Bowling association.

Ballots for election of officers of the Salem Bowling association will be distributed to team captains next week, W. H. Juergens, secretary, announced today.

Juergens is a candidate for re-election as secretary, while A. E. Beardsmore is seeking re-nomination as president. Other nominees are: President, Curt Vaughan and Jim Primm; vice president, Wade A. Loop, Mervin Thomas and Merle Caldwell; secretary-treasurer, Emmor Taylor and Paul Myers.

Biggest individual slice of a $312 prize melon will go to Charles Huffer, who will receive $175.00 for his pin-topping performance in the city tournament, which closed one week ago.

Huffer, a steady bowler in two leagues at the Grate Recreation alleys and one at the Masonic temple, will get $9.50 out of the all-event pot, $2.50 in the singles, $4.50 in the doubles and $1 in the five-man event. He was a member of the Colonial Finance team which placed ninth in the five-man competition.

Huffer Consistent

While failing to win any one event, Huffer was consistent in placing in all of the events. His steady performance earned him a tie for second place in the all-events race with handicap and sole possession of second place in all-events without handicap.

Top prize of $25 in the five-man event goes to the Salem News which won the team competition with a score of 2,899. Jim Jackson and Clyde Miller will share a $12 prize for winning the doubles, while Wally Davis will get $10 for leading the singles.

Dr. George Jones will be awarded $6 for winning the all-events race with handicap, while George Hoover of Columbiana will get a similar award for leading the non-handicap division. ## Louis Still Heavyweight Champion; Kayoes Paychek In Second Round Of Bout

Brown Bomber Uncorks Pile-Driving Right To Send Iowan to Canvas 44 Seconds After Start Of Second Round

NEW YORK, March 30.—Mr. Editor: You might as well keep in type that headline, "JOE LOUIS WINS." It looks as if there'll be plenty more opportunities to use it.

The Brown Bomber is champion of the world with no indication he'll have the crown knocked from his head by the present crop of heavyweights. He disposed of the Johnny Paychek threat, if it might be dignified by that name, 44 seconds after the start of the second round in Madison Square Garden last night.

That pile driving right that lifted the partly bald, 25-year-old Iowan off his feet and sent him to the canvas left Promoter Michael Strauss Jacobs and 11,620 fans asking themselves: "Who's next?" There are Arturo Godoy, the durable Chilean, "roly poly" Tony Galento, Max Bear and Bob Pastor. But all of them have left the dynamite packed in Louis' fists.

Goloy May Return

Godoy, who stayed 15 rounds with Louis during the winter, may get a summer shot at the title, or it may be the winner of the May engagement in Jersey City between Galento and Bear.

Johnston will be on hand to do some talking for his boy, Pastor. Probably the less said about last night's fight, the better. Louis has had shorter fights, but even he refused to admit his first round knockouts of Max Schemeling, John Henry Lewis and Jack Roper were any easier. The Bomber swung just five real blows. Four of them he used in flooring Paychek three times, each for the count of nine, in the first round. The fifth finished the fight.

The prize winners and the amounts they will receive are:

The chief executive read a statement to the effect at his press conference late yesterday, breaking the official silence which had been maintained concerning the visit of the under-secretary of state to European capitals.

Depends on Developments
Mr. Roosevelt emphasized, however, that "immediate" meant immediate and not the distant future, and that, of course, no one could tell from day to day what developments would take place.

Thus he did not preclude the possibility that peace might come without a long war.

"Even though there may be scant immediate prospect for the establishment of any just, stable and lasting peace in Europe," his formal statement said, "the information made available to this government as a result of Mr. Welles' mission will undoubtedly be of the greatest value when the time comes for the establishment of such a peace."

The prediction that the under-secretary's data would be most useful stirred speculation as to whether the president might make a move for peace when he judged the time was ripe.

Made No Proposals
Mr. Roosevelt reiterated in his statement yesterday that Welles had not made any peace proposals or commitments and had not received any.

He maintained the position that specific information given to the state department official by the Italian, German, French and British governments would be regarded as entirely confidential.

The executive said Welles' trip to Rome and the belligerent capitals had resulted "in a clarification of the relations between the United States and the countries which he visited" and added that he thought it would "assist in certain instances in the development of better understanding and more friendly relations."
